Corporate Message

Aiming at Creating a Rich and Comfortable Housing Environment

Japan Kenzai Co., Ltd. started its history in 1937 as a privately-run store that dealt with wood products. We have been supporting building contractors ever since who have taken a major role in the home building sector in Japan. We are established today as a general wholesaler, or what is called a specialized trading company of building materials, which trades in all necessary items for home building.

President and CEO
Akinori Ogawa

What is required for improving the quality of housing environment? The answer I consider to be most important is to support families and their ideal way of life. Japan Kenzai now holds up the phrase The Way You Live and Spend Your Life, thus having embarked on developing a system where we can provide home owners with long-term help and care based on each customer's life plan. Our strength is that we are capable of giving comprehensive support for every matter related to housing. This is what our competitors can never imitate. We have already received great appreciation for our business support system from building contractors and dealers.

As to the market trends in the future, circumstances are severe, since Japanese Baby Boomers are turning the young-old age and thus accelerating a downward trend in the number of households. However, there are various methods in each sector of the housing industry, new home building, remodeling, renovation, and rebuilding to enhance the quality of the housing environment and to expand our business. The housing industry is not yet matured, and it has the potential to grow substantially in the coming years. This is how I view the situation.
